

Revealed! Five quick steps for improving team effectiveness.

Got a team that still has room for improvement?

On the surface, dealing with work teams can seem pretty daunting.

Understanding your team members is one of the key challenges facing many of us.

You know that every work team is different. Every team member is different. They have different needs, demands, attitudes and behaviours.

And you have to deal with the all of this, whilst getting your team members to work together.

That's a lot of pressure.....

Want to relieve this pressure?

In just one day you'll be shown five sure fire ways to improve the way your team works together

Find out how to:

1. Identify the developmental stage of your team and how to manage this;
2. Know when to use your team in decision making and when not to;
3. Better utilise the differing motivational styles;
4. Understand the importance of individual working styles within teams;
5. Address specific problems within your team

A unique experience

The workshop is one of the few in Australia to utilise the CLICK™ Colours kits. These will help you discover why you CLICK with some people and others drive you CRAZY!

They will help you build exceptional relationships QUICK! by discovering what makes people TICK!

Benefits

- Experience less stress in your role. Better understand why your team members act the way they do

Your facilitator

Andrew Huffer, of ARID Group Training is a qualified facilitator and trainer with 16 years experience in working with managers, communities and businesses across Australia & overseas.

Andrew's workshops use a participatory approach to ensure all people are involved in actively contributing to the workshop outcomes.

He has worked to improve team effectiveness with organisations in South Australia, Western Australia, Victoria and Papua New Guinea.

This has covered a range of sectors including:

- Agriculture
- Community development
- Health
- Natural Resource Management
- Oil & Gas

As well as running his own consultancy business for over nine years, Andrew has also been a partner in a café business (with his wife) for nearly six years. This has given him further 'hands-on' experience in business management, marketing and most importantly, management of staff.
